NEW YORK SOCIETY LEADER

MRS. OSCAR LIVINGSTON.

Her engagement to James B. Clews, of New York, announced recently came as a great surprise to society in New York, where she makes her home. Mrs. Livingston has been a wildow for several years and is noted for her gracious manner and beauty of face and figure, and her name has constantly been linked in engagement rumors both here and abroad. She is the daughter of the late Washington R. Nichols, of New York, and her other sister is Mrs. Charles Emory Smith, wildow of the former Postmaster-General and Minister to Russia. Her great-grandfather, Benjamin Romaine, was the second to hold the office of Comptroller in New York city. Mr. Clews is a nephew of Henry Clews.
